Hi,

InsideOCULA is excited to help tell the stories of university and college libraries and their staff from across Ontario.

If you haven't read InsideOCULA recently, we're doing some work we're really proud of, including working with OCULA Council to create a Statement & actions against anti-Black racism.

We're also looking for your stories. We're interested in stories that share the experience of library staff and libraries across the province.

Some ideas to get you and your colleagues thinking:

- Intersectionality, equity, diversity and inclusion
- Allyship
- Indigenization
- Changes to your services and programming
- Library projects
- Research project update or summary
- Accessibility
- Burnout, failure
- ChatGPT and generative AI
- Cross-institution collaborations
- Open Access
- Critical Librarianship

We're interested in:

- Articles, videos and interviews
- Have something else in mind? Let us know!

Consider submitting:

- Around the Province – short articles: (150 – 500 words)
- Feature stories: (500 – 800 words)
- Videos: < 5 minutes
- Research Spotlight:100 – 300 words

Have an idea and not sure where it fits? Get in touch, we'd love to work with you. We want to help you or your colleagues to share your experience with the larger community.

We're regularly accepting content and publishing content. For Fall 2023 publication, please get in touch by July 30.

Looking forward to hearing from you,
The InsideOCULA Team
